I can't believe the fight for Rocky still has to continue. This coyote needs an environment that allows him to live more like a coyote, not a dog, and not the role of Ambassador...a role he never asked for! Anyone that knows animal behavior can see he is living a life full of stress and angst. Simply enlarging his enclosure, or I will call it a cage, will not be good enough at the current location. Educate yourself! Learn about the Wildlife Animal Sanctuary in Colorado, which has 2 locations. Do not make assumptions about the sanctuary. If you learn about it, you will know that having Rocky moved there will be what is best for HIM, not what is best for the people who want to keep him where he is.

Rocky has exhibited several signs of stress due to his unnatural environment, cramped living conditions, and lack of stimulation. He was put on medications, as a result. This is no life for any animal. He deserves better, and you can make that happen. Please use your authority to have Rocky, the coyote, released to an accredited, spacious sanctuary where his unique needs can be met. He has suffered way too long! Thank you in advance for opening your hearts to this animal and doing the right thing.

There is no humane, educational, or entertainment purpose in capturing a wild animal and displaying it year-round to the public. Our county is interfering with the animal's natural role and importance in the animal kingdom. You are absolutely NOT demonstrating how coyotes live — there are many science films and resources available to serve that purpose. You are showing how a frustrated animal loses its dignity and natural powers so it can be gawked at by strangers that are naturally frightful and dangerous to the animal. Worst of all, the County is exposing this chosen animal to mortal danger, shall a sick individual with a weapon decide to harm it in the middle of the night. We have seen worse behavior in our community, so why does the County provide both the victim and the opportunity?

Please ask yourself why we as the general public must endure this sad and torturous captivity that injures a beautiful animal yet serves to purpose to people at all.

I have heard the County's reasoning that "captivity has already rendered the animal unable to thrive in the wild" but that is precisely what the sanctuary is expecting, and is experienced to provide for the animal in that altered state. Please make it happen.

Please be compassionate to this animal, let it live a life as Nature intended. You will be surprised that animals are more resourceful and resilient than your experts predict.

Really, ask yourself, why are we caging a wild animal in public, knowing that we are risking its life? Would the County Board please address this problem and call for a vote?

Thank you for all consideration.

Sincerely,

Gregory Reynolds

So let me see if I'm understanding correctly - a free solution has been offered to the county to pick up Rocky and transport him to Colorado for rehabilitation and socialization and you build a mildly larger prison cell for him on the TAXPAYER?! I object and will continue to object, protest and contact you until he is released. Hope you enjoy hearing about Rocky because we're just getting warmed up!

You wouldn't leave a dog in Rocky's conditions for one night, let alone 4 years! We see what you're doing building a half-assed enclosure to please your ignorant employees. This is sick, sick, sick. You ought to be ashamed keeping an animal INCARCERATED like this!

Sincerely,

I read this article in the Chicago Tribune:

<https://www.chicagotribune.com/news/breaking/ct-gervais-release-captive-coyote-cook-county-forest-preserve-20220818-g4tv3hovjrjrbgbgz77yqqmg6e5e-story.html>

and am appalled you keep healthy animals in captivity for your selfish amusement. I support the efforts of the folks in the community to continue to expose the animal abuse being led by Preckwinkle and Randall. Way to go elected officials for contributing to the cesspool of Chicago. You're a fine representation of what leadership shouldn't look like - incompetent, stupid, immoral and always blaming the problem on someone else.
